

RECOMMENDATION LETTER

Daniel Loeffler was our International Director of sales and marketing from October 2006 until February 2008.

His assignment was to introduce for the first time the vidIP products outside of France focusing on the European and Japanese market to distributors, system integrators and end users of our broadcast video over IP transmitters and receivers.

He successfully established partners in Japan, Germany, Italy and the United Kingdom for our TSS-110 and CDS-110 products line as well as successful introduction to corporate end users in these regions.

For personal reasons, he had decided to move back to the United States to pursue his career and we mutually agreed and concurred since mediatvcom has no immediate requirement with the North America regions for a subsidiary of the company.

We would highly recommend him for a similar position within the broadcast market within North America.
